No I don't know him. I also left a voicemail message early this morning for Alan Stark at the water department and received an email response that Andrea Putz will be in touch with me to follow up on your request. As soon as I hear anything, I'll pass along the info.

Miguel - I sent a email to Corland Lohff a week ago and have not heard back. I was told that he was a contact at the Chicago Health Department on this issue. Do you know him?

Just wanted to update you briefly while I am waiting on Chicago's response. We sent them what we developed here at EPA and posted on our website (link below) but I am not sure if they have worked with their health department on recommendations for lead in water or if they just used EPA information.

I did provide training for the Chicago health department staff on collecting water samples when they do EBL site visits, which they started to do after our study findings were published. They also provide flushing guidance to residents to clear the high lead-bearing scale and sediment following any disturbance of a lead service line.

Hi Miguel -

Hope all is well. I am currently out of the office but checking emails periodically.

Can you send me any info. that the City of Chicago used as recommendations for citizens to reduce lead conc. in water that also were vetted with Chicago Public Health authorities? Otherwise, can you send me a contact at Chicago Health Department?

best,

paul b.
